JOB SUMMARY

The Power Platform Developer is a full-time position within the agency's technology team. The role's key responsibilities revolve around designing, developing, and administering Extended Relationship Management (XRM) and data-related business systems in collaboration with senior leadership and key users across departments. The Power Platform Developer is a versatile role that blends aspects of software development, database administration, business analysis, and data analysis.

The position requires a bachelor's degree or relevant certification in computer science with a solid foundation in database management systems, Power Platform architecture, and data analysis. Effective functioning in the role is supported by strong communication skills to facilitate collaboration and user support, as well as the confidence and creativity to self-direct, approach modern systems, and take initiative in loosely-defined problem spaces.

PRIMARY DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Develop from an established backlog for the Agency's core model-driven XRM application, focusing on bug fixes, new feature development, and optimizations.
- Develop, configure, and extend Dataverse schemas, Power Automate workflows, and Power Apps components based on prioritized technical requirements.
- Serve as the primary system administrator and technical support contact for the Microsoft Power Platform environment, troubleshooting application issues and ensuring system stability.
- Build and maintain data integrations and technical reporting layers to support the Agency's broader business intelligence needs.
- Manage and optimize the internal Datawarehouse infrastructure to ensure reliable data processing and storage.
- Design, build, and deploy advanced Power BI semantic models, reports, and interactive dashboards.
- Collaborate closely with technical leadership to translate defined business requirements and backlog items into scalable Power Platform solutions.
- Provide clear technical documentation and communicate system capabilities, constraints, and data insights to team members.

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS

- Cover letter and updated resume
- Related work experience
- Clear Criminal Record with Vulnerable Sector, and Adult Abuse Registry Check (no older than six months)
- Child Abuse Registry checks (no older than three months)
